Meeting Place of United Nations(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 11—Mayor
William O'Dwyer announced today
the selection of the World's Fair site at Flushing Meadow as the interim meeting place of the United Nations.The Sperry gyroscopic plant at Lake Success, Long Island, considered as a possible site of the interim headquarters, was chosen as office headquarters of the United Nations, the mayor added.The announcement was made after a 20-minute meeting this morning of Trygve Lie, U. N. secretary general, Grover Whalen, who has been assisting U. N. officials in seeking a satisfactory site
in New York, and the board of estimate of New York City.$1,250,000 Advanced O'Dwyer said that the city had agreed to advance $1,250,000 for improving the Flushing Meadow park and the interior of the municipal building, now used as a skating rink.The municipal building is contemplated for meetings of the general assembly.The mayor said Lie and the board of estimate entered into a "verbal agreement" on the plan to use the old World's Fair site as the meeting place of the United Nations.In reporting that the Sperry plant
would be used for offices, the mayor added that the city was guaranteeing that housing units to accommodate 4,000 persons employed by the U. N. would be situated somewhere in the city and would be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1.The city building in the old World's Fair grounds would be available for use by Sept. 1, the mayor said. The general assembly of the United Nations will meet in New York Sept. 3.The Security Council has met in the H. C. College gymnasium in the Bronx and it is contemplated that the council will continue to meet there at least until the U. N.
contract for the Hunter college site
expires May 15.Junior High Nature Club

Boring, Columbiana county conservation warden, 12 boys, members of the Junior High School Nature club,

out Ohio as a part of the joint project of conservation education sponsored by the Department of Education and the Division of Conservation. The governor's proclamation designates the week of April 22-28 as Conservation Week in Ohio
schools.The State Department of Conser-

project. Junior High Principal H.
K. Smith said.The following boys assisted in the planting:

railroads in a joint petition have asked federal court for a permanent injunction against an Interstate Commerce commission order re-

shipments from western Pennsylv-

all-rail shipments and "ex-river"

mer rates were unjust and unreas-

SEC. ANDERSONForeign Commitments May Force Cut In U. S.
Consumption(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 11.—The government held off today its decision whether more drastic steps were needed at home to tide famine areas abroad over the present critical shortage of bread.Although the domestic conservation program launched a month ago has failed to achieve the savings sought and exports to hungry
areas have fallen behind promises, officials continue to insist that foreign commitments will be met.In the face of an Agriculture department report which raised doubts whether enough wheat remained to meet both export needs and domestic demands at current levels, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told a news conference last night that this country would fulfill its promises.Conservation Vital But he said the nation would have to observe fully all phases of the wheat conservation program. And he added it might be necessary to force a 25 per cent cut in domestic use of flour between now and June 30, when the new winter wheat crop starts moving to market in volume.The British cabinet offered yesterday to ration bread in Great Britain if the United States would do the same.Anderson's view that this country will meet its promises abroad assumes that the government will be able to pull to market the bulk of the remaining small stocks of wheat on farms. Officials have reported that many farmers are holding on to their grain in the hope of higher prices.Lending greater encouragement to the cabinet officer, however,
was the department's crop report
predicting that this year's winter wheat crop will be a record one.To help meet export needs, it may be possible, Anderson said,
to get some of this year's wheat moving overseas as early as the first of June, provided harvests are fairly early in Texas and Oklahoma and the wheat is expedited to ports.May Substitute Oats
He indicated, too, that it may be possible to substitute oats in some cases for wheat in export shipments.
Oat stocks are of record proportions.Government plans call for greater emphasis on the wheat conservation program started a month ago and upon other measures designed to curb use of wheat in non-food uses.The conservation program, outlined by President Truman's famine emergency committee, called upon Americans to eat 40 per cent less wheat products during the present emergency.The measures to be pressed more vigorously, Anderson said, include orders limiting use of wheat in livestock feed, prohibiting the use of wheat in making beer and whiskey, a higher wheat flour extraction rate, and limits on inventories of millers and feed mixers designed to prevent hoarding of wheat.A benefit auction of stamps and on Ohio last night.Orchards in northeastern and central Ohio were hit, and fruit growers in the Columbiana-Trumbull-Stark county area expressed fear that tree buds which might have escaped yesterday's attack

were killed this morning.Growers in Columbiana county said today that the unusually low temperature last night was almost certain to have done serious damage to peach, pear and plum crops
in the district.The thermometer dropped to 17
here last night, probably the lowest recording ever made on an April 11 and the lowest in Ohio last night.Apples Possibly Spared
It was still possible, growers indicated that apple crops in Colum-biana county were not injured by the third heavy frost in a week."Damage to cherries, plums, pears and peaches in this area is very severe," D. R. McConnell, prominent Salem orchardist said.He added that "the apple crop has suffered possibly 25 per cent damage since last week."McConnell said, however, that his estimate of the damage was based on the total done by the three killing frosts, not just last night.The recent cold weather has slowed the progress of the apple blossoms, thereby protecting them from the current frost, it is believed.In Stark county, which normally has a $250,000 fruit crop, growers said they believed the 1946 crop would be almost a total loss.Hardest hit in that county, which had a low of 22 were cherries, strawberries and peaches. Apples had not developed far enough to suffer heavy damage.The weather bureau had forecast cloudy weather for the night, but in some areas the clouds disappeared and frost descended. The clouds had been depended upon to hold warm air over the earth.

Lowest Temperature Here

The temperature dropped to 17
here and 19 at Warren, while Youngstown reported 24, Akron 25 and Columbus 30. Heavy frost was reported also at Canton, Lima and Ashland.The Hartman farm, large fruit grower at Columbus, reported its grapes were hard hit and peach trees were damaged although mudger pots were kept burning during the night.Clouds and wind prevented frost in the Cincinnati area, where the temperature dropped to 35.In the Cleveland area, one or-chardist reported his sweet cherries were virtually ruined. "The damage to apples was not severe."The damage to peaches can not be ascertained for a week.Vandenberg and Monroney

Someone Missed the Point

The president of the New York state tax commission, announcing its adverse ruling on a claim by executors for the estate of Franklin D. Roosevelt that the late chief executive was a member of the armed forces at the time of his death and therefore exempt from personal income taxes, has made an extremely important point. Unfortunately, he has made it too late to spare Mr. Roosevelt's memory a gratuitous slur.

Mr. Roosevelt himself, in a speech at Philadelphia during his 1944 campaign, said: "It was due to no accident and no oversight that the framers of our constitution put the command of our armed forces under civilian authority. It is the duty of the commander in chief to appoint the secretaries of War and Navy and the Chiefs of Staff."

Another wartime chief executive, Woodrow Wilson, chiding a painter for depicting him in uniform, said: "The framers of the Constitution...realized that the president would seldom be a soldier and their idea in making him the commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States was that the armed forces of the country must be the instruments of the authority by which policy was determined."

The public criticism caused by the executors' claim for income tax exemption does an injustice to the late president, who realized that he was a civilian carrying out the purpose of the Constitution, which was to subordinate military to civil power even in wartime. As this government's spokesman in meetings with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt always wore civilian clothes, mute testimony to his civilian status as a war leader.

Another Chance

On the same day that arrangements were completed for a Big Four conference of foreign ministers in Paris to speed peace treaties with five of Germany's defeated satellites in World War II, a reliable foreign correspondent, L. S. B. Shapiro, made these observations for North American Newspaper Alliance:

"A spurious gaiety fills the capitals of Europe...there is only an urge to live for today and to hell with tomorrow—because tomorrow will be hell any way you look at it...The reason is the present state of relations between the United States and Britain, on the one side, and Russia on the other. Europe is paralyzed by war fear, not war fever. Unless the western powers compose their differences with Russia in such a manner as to inspire public confidence in a protracted period of peace, Europe's postwar chaos will be compounded rather than relieved and world recovery must be tragically delayed. The people I have talked with are convinced that war is coming quickly. As long as they continue to believe this, there can be no stable recovery."

The question before the foreign ministers is whether or not they can agree on peace terms for Italy, Hungary, Romania and Finland. Europe will be watching Europe doubts that the Allies can agree. Europe is waiting for a sign that they can; that peace can be a reality, as well as a hope.

Mistaken Zeal

If the United States has had opportunity to learn anything about international relations in the 160 years of its national existence, that lesson is that intervention in the internal affairs of another country, however morally commendable, is seldom welcomed and still more seldom rewarded.

The Central Americans never liked it. The Russians didn't like it after their Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The Argentines and the Spaniards don't like it. And now it appears that the Chinese don't care for it, either. Or, if perchance they do, they certainly have a very peculiar way of displaying their Oriental affection. For reports from Manchuria indicate that neither the Nationalist armies nor the Communist forces are paying any attention to the American envoys who are now touring Manchuria in an effort to stop the civil war. Both sides, dispatches say, fear that the delegations will "interfere with their military operations."

The current dispute has been going on for a great many years you know. And the manner in which it has been conducted has reflected little credit to either Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek or his Communist adversaries.

During the late war, for example, Chiang's oft-repeated determination to "eradicate the Japanese scourge" was not so complete that he let it deter him from storing countless quantities of war goods secured from America, and a million of his best-trained soldiers, in the north—for "post-hostility" use against the Red uprising he believed sure to follow Japan's surrender. And the Communist record reveals virtually unbroken subtle acceptance of Nipponese occupation as a heaviest means of weakening the National armies.

The ancient struggle continues now, on an accelerated basis, in the era of so-called "reconstruction." The Nationalists and the Reds battle one another openly in Manchuria—and while they do, the Russians calmly go about their unilateral business of stripping Manchurian plants of the machinery China desperately needs.

Oh, yes, a formal agreement to cease hostilities was signed recently in Chungking, and official armistice teams, composed of Nationalist, Communist, and American "peace-makers," are now circulating hopefully in the battle area. At least, the Americans are; key Nationalist representatives, it seems, are missing, and the Red envoys have been mysteriously delayed. But they are encountering a studied deafness wherever they go.

The Chinese belligerents know, even if their American "benefactors" don't, that this cease-firing concord is nothing new. One has been signed every so often for 10 years or more, and they all have meant the same thing—nothing. The fighting continues unabated, until finally a Red general is "kidnaped" or a Nationalist leader is "outraged," and the struggle again acquires official status.

A curious and deplorable situation, unquestionably. But the Chinese apparently like it that way. And, after all, it's their country.

Petty Cash

One of the ingenious suggestions for financing the war—by voluntary contributions. Instead of bonds serviced out of future public income—has been applied literally, if accidentally, by the holders of $23,600,000 worth of savings bonds which have matured and $13,306,000 worth of World War I Securities never redeemed.

Out of the billions of dollars' worth of bonds sold for World War II, many millions will accrue to the Treasury by default. While relatively they will be petty cash, they will embody a possibility that has intrigued many students of public finance. With debt service now costing taxpayers more than a billion dollars a year, they may comprehend that in the long run it would be cheaper to pay as they go.

THE indications are for a prolongation of convivial celebration and parties, in tribute to some outstanding or worthy achievement, yet there is danger of carrying such to extremes, with mistakes, errors, excesses or indulgences which might have an unhappy reaction on standing, reputation or professional security.

Disagreeable or inconsiderate conduct may backfire. Nevertheless, there is much to be gained in pleasant relations or festivities, with gratification, gain and in social, sentimental, home, business and financial contacts.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a pleasant, happy, and progressive year, with much gratification in business, social, love, professional and home affiliations, if they will handle all such happy functions with discretion, tact and reserve.

Excesses, indulgence or over-doing in any form might exact regrets or loss of prestige, funds or reputation, with long-range reactions on career and home affiliations.

A child born on this day will have a pleasant and happy disposition with promise of success if talents be developed and applied. Its love of pleasure and indulgence may divert from serious considerations.

Teaching Baby Toilet Habits

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHEN it comes to baby's toilet training, wise mothers will let well enough alone. They will not attempt training too early nor insist on perfection.

All too many mothers, however, regard the establishing of regular habits as a life-and-death matter.

Under the mistaken impression that absolute clock-like regularity of elimination is necessary to health, they begin training early and pursue it rigorously with the result that they often have a rebellious and constipated baby to deal with.

Indeed, many specialists believe that these over-zealous training habits not only interfere with normal bowel habits, but may also permanently distort the child's personality.

According to Dr. Benjamin Spock of New York, it is very important for mothers to learn the right way of going about this training. It should never be pressed to the point where the child rebels, a particular danger during the second year of life.

Rebellion means conflict and conflict means emotional scars, sometimes of life-long duration.

Babies may rebel against the training merely because having a bowel movement is uncomfortable. An infant who has had painful hard movements on frequent occasions naturally dreads the toilet seat.

Thus it is necessary to prevent quire control of the bowel function in the normal way if he is let alone to a great extent. Too much persistence will do more harm than good.

In another group of cases, the baby may sit on the toilet willingly but nothing happens. The bowel movement occurs immediately after he gets up.

In a third variety the baby will not have a bowel movement either while on the toilet or afterwards. He acquires constipation merely because of his mental attitude.

The retained bowel movement becomes hard within the bowel and then is painful to eliminate. Then the baby has two reasons for failure to have a bowel movement, the hard stool and resistance to the toilet seat.

In the process of training, the baby should be put on the toilet casually and briefly, and only after he can sit up well without help. If the baby does not seem to cooperate, efforts should be relaxed until weeks or months later.

Someone Missed the Point

The president of the New York state tax commission, announcing its adverse ruling on a claim by executors for the estate of Franklin D. Roosevelt that the late chief executive was a member of the armed forces at the time of his death and therefore exempt from personal income taxes, has made an extremely important point. Unfortunately, he has made it too late to spare Mr. Roosevelt's memory a gratuitous slur.

Mr. Roosevelt himself, in a speech at Philadelphia during his 1944 campaign, said: "It was due to no accident and no oversight that the framers of our constitution put the command of our armed forces under civilian authority. It is the duty of the commander in chief to appoint the secretaries of War and Navy and the Chiefs of Staff."

Another wartime chief executive, Woodrow Wilson, chiding a painter for depicting him in uniform, said: "The framers of the Constitution...realized that the president would seldom be a soldier and their idea in making him the commander in chief of the Army and Navy of the United States was that the armed forces of the country must be the instruments of the authority by which policy was determined."

The public criticism caused by the executors' claim for income tax exemption does an injustice to the late president, who realized that he was a civilian carrying out the purpose of the Constitution, which was to subordinate military to civil power even in wartime.

As this government's spokesman in meetings with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt always wore civilian clothes, mute testimony to his civilian status as a war leader.

Another Chance

On the same day that arrangements were completed for a Big Four conference of foreign ministers in Paris to speed peace treaties with five of Germany's defeated satellites in World War II, a reliable foreign correspondent, L. S. B. Shapiro, made these observations for North American Newspaper Alliance:

"A spurious gaiety fills the capitals of Europe...there is only an urge to live for today and to hell with tomorrow—because tomorrow will be hell any way you look at it....The reason is the present state of relations between the United States and Britain on the one side, and Russia on the other. Europe is paralyzed by war fear, not war fever. Unless the western powers compose their differences with Russia in such a manner as to inspire public confidence in a protracted period of peace, Europe's postwar chaos will be compounded rather than relieved and world recovery must be tragically delayed. The people I have talked with are convinced that war is coming quickly. As long as they continue to believe this, there can be no stable recovery."

The question before the foreign ministers is whether or not they can agree on peace terms for Italy, Hungary, Romania and Finland. Europe will be watching. Europe doubts that the Allies can agree. Europe is waiting for a sign that they can; that peace can be a reality, as well as a hope.

Mistaken Zeal

If the United States had opportunity to learn anything about international relations in the 160 years of its national existence, that lesson is that intervention in the internal affairs of another country, however morally commendable, is seldom welcomed and still more seldom rewarded.

The Central Americans never liked it. The Russians didn't like it after their Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The Argentines and the Spaniards don't like it.

And now it appears that the Chinese don't care for it, either. Or, if perchance they do, they certainly have a very peculiar way of displaying their Oriental affection. For reports from Manchuria indicate that neither the Nationalist armies nor the Communist forces are paying any attention to the American envoy who are now touring Manchuria in an effort to stop the civil war. Both sides, dispatches say, fear that the delegations will "interfere with their military operations."

The current dispute has been going on for a great many years you know. And the manner in which it has been conducted has reflected little credit to either Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek or his Communist adversaries.

During the late war, for example, Chiang's oft-repeated determination to "eradicate the Japanese scourge" was not so complete that he let it deter him from storing countless quantities of war goods secured from America, and a million of his best-trained soldiers, in the north—for "post-hostility" use against the Red uprising he believed sure to follow Japan's surrender. And the Communist record reveals virtually unbroken subtle acceptance of Nipponese occupation as a heavenly means of weakening the National armies.

The ancient struggle continues now, on an accelerated basis, in the era of so-called "reconstruction." The Nationalists and the Reds battle one another openly in Manchuria—and while they do, the Russians calmly go about their unilateral business of stripping Manchurian plants of the machinery China desperately needs.

Oh, yes, a formal agreement to cease hostilities was signed recently in Chungking, and official armistice teams, composed of Nationalist, Communist, and American "peace-makers," are now circulating hopefully in the battle area. At least, the Americans are; key Nationalist representatives, it seems, are missing, and the Red envoys have been mysteriously delayed. But they are encountering a studied deafness wherever they go.

The Chinese belligerents know, even if their American "benefactors" don't, that this cease-firing concord is nothing new. One has been signed every so often for 10 years or more, and they all have meant the same thing—nothing. The fighting continues unabated, until finally a Red general is "kidnaped" or a Nationalist leader is "outraged," and the struggle again acquires official status.

A curious and deplorable situation, unquestionably. But the Chinese apparently like it that way. And, after all, it's their country.

WHEN it comes to baby's toilet training, wise mothers will tell well enough alone. They will not attempt training too early nor insist on perfection.

Under the mistaken impression that absolute clock-like regularity of elimination is necessary to health, they begin training early and pursue it rigorously with the result that they often have a rebellious and constipated baby to deal with.

Distort Personality
Indeed, many specialists believe that these over-vigorous training habits not only interfere with normal bowel habits, but may also permanently distort the child's personality.

According to Dr. Benjamin Spock of New York, it is very important for mothers to learn the right way of going about this training. It should never be pressed to the point where the child rebels, a particular danger during the second year of life.

Rebellion means conflict and conflict means emotional scars, sometimes of life-long duration. Babies may rebel against the training merely because having a bowel movement is uncomfortable. An infant who has had painful, hard movements on frequent occasions naturally dreads the toilet seat.

Thus it is necessary to prevent or cure constipation throughout the first two years of life by regulating the diet.

Another factor to be given consideration is whether or not the infant naturally has bowel movements at a regular time. The baby who always moves his bowels at the same time each day is never a training problem.

Three Forms

Dr. Spock points out that the resistance against training may take three forms: First, the baby resists sitting on the toilet or even going to the bathroom. In severe cases, there may be violent rages and temper tantrums.

In another group of cases, the baby may sit on the toilet willingly but nothing happens. The bowel movement occurs immediately after he gets up.

In a third variety the baby will not have a bowel movement either while on the toilet or afterwards. He acquires constipation merely because of his mental attitude.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

ROME-In Italy they beat you over the head with culture and make you learn to like it.

You come into a restaurant looking for a hamburger and a quiet corner in which to wolf it down and then assault you with Verdi, Puccini, Bellini, Mascagni and other dead and foreign musical long hairs.

By the time the evening is over, you find you are beginning to like the darn stuff.

The trouble with all art, music and other assorted bargain counter cultures in America is that they try to cram them down your throat in high school while you are either writing a brief 10 page love note to the girl in the next row, or wondering what the cafeteria will have for lunch.

Here they teach you in a soft, beautiful and offhand way that makes music, art and literature as much a natural part of these emotional people's lives as food and love and work and sleep are in America.

In Italy—sad, sorry, poverty-ridden, glorious Italy—they follow the precepts of Aristotle, or the Greeks whose wisdom humanized the Romans, and breathe music as their lifetime solace.

They gave me my first serious lesson in music tonight in a small restaurant in the Via Frattina. My teachers were three among Rome's hundreds of cafe musicians.

Because we were Americans and they knew we were good for a few laughs they first played in limping, greeting such tunes as "In The Mood" and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love Baby."

But once we applauded they began to bend their violin, guitar and mandolin double with old favorites that never meant quite so much in music appreciation courses back home—"The Peet and Pessant Overture," "Digo's Serenade," "Barber of Seville" and arias from the opera "Rigolotto."

Of course this is all "Freshman music" to cruddy people who can tell you offhand whether Schubert scratches out his compositions with chalk or fountain pen. But they put a zest to their job that was unforgettable in that spaghetti arena where one carbide lamp was kept lit in case the electric age went on the blink.

And, without a revolving stage or a bronchite tenor they made Verdi sound more real than he usually does as played before a white shirted stuff audience.

They made a handful of violin more important than an understudy porkchop. And to one musical illiterate that helps explain what Italy lives by more than the guide books or UNRRA's first annual report.

JOSEPH W. FICHTER

... "farm lads robbed"

Joseph W. Fichter, Master of the Ohio State Grange, last week urged members of the Grange to consider seriously Governor Lausche's proclamation designating April as Conservation Month, suggesting that the proclamation be brought to the attention of every member attending meetings during April.

"For many years," he pointed out, "farmers of our nation have been losing their natural fertility to the extent that agricultural frontiers no longer exist."

As a result of land-use studies made by many Grange members in recent years showing startling losses in natural resources, several conservation resolutions were adopted during the last annual session of the Ohio Grange in the interest of better land-use methods, to help restore and conserve the soil, water, forests, wildlife and minerals.

Dr. Walter R. Williams of Damascus, who is with the spearhead party sent out by Ohio Yearly meeting of Friends, to make a survey of the Friends missions in Nanking and Luho, China, writes that "conditions are not good."

"Prices are extreme," according to Williams, and "living must be very simple." He says that there are no fires in the houses in Shanghai.

Dr. Charles DeVol of Marion, who accompanied Williams, writes that "the Luho city wall is rebuilt. The church work is encouraging, but the people are very poor. There are no Communists in Luho city," DeVol writes.

The bureau said seeding of the spring wheat crop made rapid progress during the past week, except for delays in some areas caused by rain and snow; early sown fields of the spring wheat were said to be up to good stands.

Vets 'Clean Up' With Self-Service Laundry

Louis Stein and Bernard Fishman, Coast Guard veterans, had a bright idea and they're literally cleaning up. They opened a self-service laundry in Chicago, where, for 25 cents, housewives can do the family wash in the laundry's 22 washing machines. Soap is free, but bleaches and bluing are a nickel extra. Photo shows some of the "clean-up cafeteria's" customers at work.

POETS HAVE SUNG OF LOVE in wondrous phrases down through the ages. But little Jimmy Murray of Johnson City, N. Y., who has been around only a few short years, seems to have them up a tree as he sits beneath one with his lady fair, Kathy Callahan. Judging by the young lady's rapt attention, Casanova must be spinning in his grave. (International)

Farm Officials Hope For Large Winter Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Weather bureau reported today that the condition of the important winter wheat crop was good to excellent in the greater part of the country.

The report strengthened hopes of farm officials that the winter crop would be of record proportions. A large crop is needed to help meet a world wide shortage.

The bureau said seeding of the spring wheat crop made rapid progress during the past week, except for delays in some areas caused by rain and snow; early sown fields of the spring wheat were said to be up to good stands.

SUMMER DAYTIME HATS BOTH PROTECTIVE, GLAMOROUS

Top left, black velvet hat with feather field flowers; below, Tuscan straw braid model; right, satin turban.

Summer daytime hats have wide brims which make a girl look glamorous yet have the ability to protect her from the sun. Big squashy straw berets, small rough straws with veiling and high trim effects, and off-the-face bonnets with deep flower bands, are suggested for dressmaker suits. Off-the-face models are preferred for restaurant dining, designed to emphasize the eyes and show the coiffure. The three chapeaux shown above are Laddie Northridge models. At the left are, top, a black velvet crownless mushroom shape with natural bangkok facing. Bright colored field flowers made of feathers are banded over the top. Below is a natural Tuscan straw braid with deep cuff brim and extended crown silhouette which is banded with wide belting. The evening hat, right, is a turban of orchid satin with iridescent bubbles and dainty sprigs massed to a high point in front. It is elegant and feminine.

Asks Citizens To Observe Law Until Docket Arrives

WABASH, Ind., April 11.—Mayor Homer T. Shorader, who also presides as city judge, appealed today to Wabash citizens to refrain from law violations at least until a new court docket arrives.

"I wish people would lay off getting drunk and fighting for the next few days," he said, "we have only seven pages left in the city court docket, which is about enough for two days' normal business. If the public will just be a little patient, we'll have the new docket in a short time, then they can cut loose as much as they want because we'll be ready to do business at the same old stand."

Asks Citizens To Observe Law Until Docket Arrives

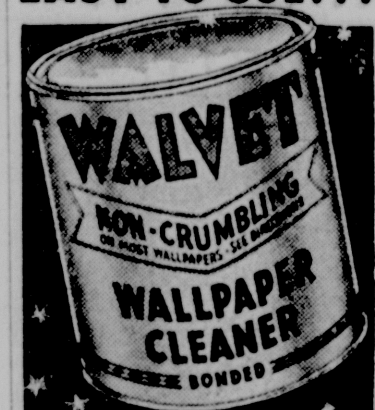

WABASH, Ind., April 11.—Mayor Homer T. Showalter, who also presides as city judge, appealed today to Wabash citizens to refrain from law violations at least until a new court docket arrives.

"I wish people would lay off getting drunk and fighting for the next few days," he said, "we have only seven pages left in the city court docket, which is about enough for two days' normal business. If the public will be a little patient, we'll have the new docket in a short time, then they can cut loose as much as they want because we'll be ready to do business at the same old stand."

Urge GI Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A house military subcommittee recommended legislation today to give a $400 yearly pay raise to all members of the armed forces.

Professor Zogi, The Magician Marvelous!

Professor Zogi, the magician, came to our town Saturday and put on a performance for the benefit of the Orphanage.

It was quite a show! Among other things, the professor holds a pitcher in his hands, and asks folks what they'd have to drink. Ma Hoskins asks for buttermilk and the professor promptly pours her a rich, creamy glassful.

Then Zeb Collins asks for cider, and out of the same pitcher comes a mug of cider. Doc Hollister next calls for beer—and presto, from the pitcher comes a sparkling glass of beer, white collar and all!

"Just goes to show," says Doc, astonished, "that it takes a magician to satisfy all tastes."

From where I sit, the professor has a mighty good act ... one that points a moral too. Tastes differ—but people can have a friendly, happy time enjoying the beverage that each prefers—and being tolerant of one another's preferences.

Recover Last Two Bodies From Scene of '44 Blast

BELLAIRE, April 11—The last two bodies of 65 men killed in an explosion and fire at the coal mine of the Powhatan Mining Co., near here on July 5, 1944 were recovered today.

The bodies were those of George McConaughy, 37, of Powhatan Point and James Jobb, 22, of Bridgeport.

They were found by Edward Fel-labaum, 48, general foreman at the mine, lying along the main haulage route and had been by-passed by rescue crews on several occasions. Mine officials said they were covered with an inch of soot which probably caused rescue crews to miss them.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

300,000 Seedlings Will Be Set Out

LISBON, April 11.—The work of reforestation of "spoils" banks, under provisions of the Pittman-Robinson act of the Ohio legislature, is going forward in a big way in Columbiana county this year with approximately 300,000 trees to be set out, according to S. A. Linstrom of the state department of conservation, Game Warden L. W. Boring was advised today.

A crew of workmen today began the task of transplanting 20,000 trees on coal stripped lands in Elk-run township, under Linstrom's direction.

The trees which include pine, locust and tulip poplar, are provided by the Ohio Department of Conservation of Natural Resources.

Many farmers and organizations have taken advantage of this opportunity to reforest their lands or beautify tracts. The Wright Engineering and the Wright Manufacturing Co. of Lisbon have planted 2,000 trees in a 10-acre tract adjoining the factories, while students of the Leetonia schools planted 200 pine trees on city property Tuesday, and the students of Salem Junior High school today planted 200 trees on a plot of ground near the Depot road.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

Third Basemen Problem Is Major Worry Of Big Moguls

Indians, Yanks, Cardinals Seem Fairly Well Set But Others Have Tough Vacancy

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 11—Major league baseball managers are crying for third basemen this year like they used to bemoan the lack of good shortstops and second basemen.

With the opening of the 1946 season five days away only Cleveland's Lou Boudreau, the New York Yankees' Joe McCarthy and the St. Louis Cardinals' Eddie Dyer of the 16 big league pilots seem to have solved their "hot corner" problem and even they are not sitting too pretty.

In Keltner Cleveland owns one of the best third sackers in the American league, but the recently discharged sailor was late in signing and hasn't trimmed down to his best playing weight. Currently Boudreau has been using Bob Lemon and Don Ross at the far corner.

Whitey Kurowski, hard hitting Cardinal third baseman, ended a long holdout siege last Saturday and hasn't seen an inning of action. He is expected to be on the bench when the season opens with Al (Red) Schoendienst, an outfielder last year, at third.

George Stirnweiss, best second baseman in the American league last year will be the regular Yankee third baseman this season but an injury to second Sockey Joe Gordon last month may send Stirnweiss back at his old post next Tuesday.

Even Steve O'Neill and Charlie Grimm, the 1945 pennant winning managers, are not certain of their opening day third basemen. O'Neill has been experimenting with Jimmy Outlaw, last year's part-time third baseman, Billy Hitchcock and Pinky Higgins. It looks like he will start the season with the 37-year-old Higgins who was beginning to show the effects of age when he entered the service two years ago.

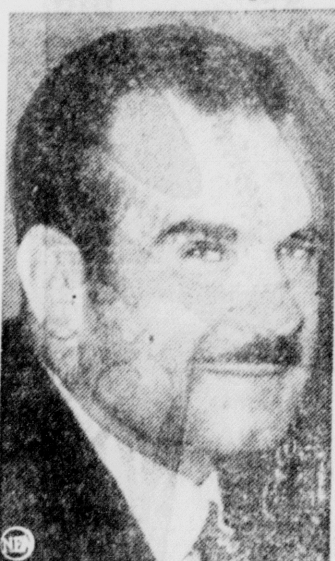

Grimm has been worried over the slowness of Veteran Stan Hack in rounding into form. The 35-year-old Californian has needed assistance in almost every game from youthful Johnny Ostrowski and his hitting has been practically nil this spring.

Injuries have been responsible for the unsettled third base condition of Brooklyn and the New York Giants. In Brooklyn, Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, back after four years in the Navy, was counted on to pick up where he left off at the far corner, but an injured hand has written him off for a least another month. Billy Herman and Pete Reiser were injured while attempting to fill in for Lavagetto and now Law Ruggs, 10-year man in the majors, is trying his hand there. Manager Mel Ott finally has decided on Buddy Kerr after giving Nick Witke, Dick Bartlett and Jaime Almonzo a crack at third. Witke is sidelined by a split hand.

In Philadelphia George Kell, a late reporter, and Pete Suder, 1943 regular, are battling for the 1944 post while Jim Tabor, purchased from the Boston Red Sox, has the inside track in the Phillies camp.

Billy Southworth, of the Boston Braves, has three candidates, Sibbi Sisti, Froilan Fernandez, and Bob Detweiler. Joe Cronin of the Red Sox is equally undecided. With two would-be regulars, Jack Tobin and Ty Laforest already disposed of

BUFFALO MUST WIN TO STAY IN RACE

Hockey Spectacle Tonight In Buffalo Gives Baron Team Title Chance

(By Associated Press)
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 11.—The Buffalo Bisons must win tonight's game here with Cleveland's Barons to stay in the running for the American Hockey league Calder cup.

A victory for the Barons, who finished third in the Western division standings at the close of the regular season, would give them their fourth league championship and second in row.

The Cleveland team, which has three wins to one defeat in the best-of-seven final playoffs, was to arrive here this afternoon. Despite their showing thus far in the series, the Bisons Eastern division leaders, were believed capable of sending the playoffs to the seventh game limit.

The Bisons have been handicapped by the absence of Left Winger Doug Lewis and Defense-man Roger Leger, both on the injured list.

Coch Frank Belser said yesterday, however, that Lewis, who suffered some cracked ribs during the semi-finals with Indianapolis, might return to the lineup for tonight's game.

Leetonia Boosters Enjoy Canton Speakers; Gridders Honor Coach Charlie Mather

An enthusiastic group of 40 Leetonia Boosters and the football squad last night heard a representative group of Canton McKinley Boosters, including Coach "Bup" Rearick of McKinley, present football talks at the Bear team honored Coach Charlie Mather, Assistant Jerry Beltempo and Principal James L. McBride at a Boosters club meeting.

Rearick, coach of Canton's famed Bulldog football and basketball teams was accompanied to the Leetonia meeting in the High school building by Dave Williams, Canton magician and entertainer, Kaye Manne, president of the Bulldog Boosters club, Assistant Coach "Red" Riddersbaugh and Sports Editor Harry Yeckey of the Canton Repository.

All gave brief talks, outlining the McKinley Booster program, while Williams entertained with magic tricks, featuring Dick Roose, Leetonia Booster president, as his "stogie."

Roose was appointed by the club, during the business session, to represent the organization as a member of the Leetonia High school athletic council during the coming year.

The move was instigated as the result of a letter from the council, requesting that a member of the club be appointed to represent the Boosters in schedule negotiations, etc., in council sessions.

The group also passed a resolution expressing "complete backing of the current park improvement project in Leetonia" and offered the services of any or all its members in carrying out the program.

Salem Dog Wins Second In Beagle Hound Event

Trueheart Dandy, owned and handled by R. E. Lawrence of Salem, won second place in the 13-inch futurity dog class at the International Beagle Federation Futurity and Spring Derby stakes at Ellsworth Monday and Tuesday.

The two-year old dog was second to Grayline Venture, owned and handled by Charles Chasey of Point Pleasant, Ill. Sixty dogs competed in the class.

The 13-inch class featured the entire activity of the derby on Monday, because of the extremely large field entered in that event.

Cleveland Browns Set For Seven Home Games

CLEVELAND, April 11.—The Cleveland Browns open their seven-game home schedule at Cleveland stadium Friday night, Sept. 6, against the Miami Seahawks, the new professional football team announced.

Sept. 29, New York Yankees; Oct. 6, Brooklyn Dodgers; Oct. 20, Los Angeles Dons; Oct. 27, San Francisco 49ers; Nov. 17, Chicago Rockets and Nov. 24, Buffalo Bisons.

The Browns will play the Brooklyn Dodgers in an exhibition game at Akron's Rubber Bowl Aug. 30.

Ohio U. Wins In Odd One

ATHENS, April 11.—Ohio university's baseball team counteracted 12 fielding bobbles with three home runs yesterday to defeat Marietta, 19 to 5, in its season opener here. Hitting homers were Jack Singerman of Tiltonville, Bill Turk and Charles Traeger, both of Cleveland.

Pro Grid Brothers

CHICAGO — That old football rivalry between the Chicago Bears and the Chicago Cardinals will have a family flavor this fall. Al and Chuck Drulis, brothers and former Temple university stars, will be on opposite teams when the intra-city rivals get together. Al will be at fullback for the Cardinals and Chuck at guard for the Bears.

Force of Habit

Jimmy Fox, former home run slugger of Athletics, now starting career as radio commentator in Boston, can't help grabbing microphone with same powerful grip he once used on baseball bat.

Return To Lacrosse

NEW YORK—Nine colleges have returned to lacrosse this year. They are Drexel, Duke, Loyola of Baltimore, Hobart, New Hampshire, Syracuse, Rutgers, Johns Hopkins and Maryland.

Golf Club Signs Pro

Andrew Mocsary, Former Norwalk Instructor, To Direct Activity At Salem Course Through The Summer Season

The selection of Andrew Mocsary, former Norwalk (Ohio) Country club golf instructor, as the new "pro" at the Salem Golf club this season, was revealed today following a meeting of the club's board of directors Tuesday night.

Mocsary, who is currently winding up the winter golfing season in St. Petersburg, Fla., is due to arrive in Salem April 20 with his wife and daughter and will take over his new duties shortly after that date.

Mocsary's contract states that he will have complete charge of the course, clubs and caddies and that he will supervise all contests and tournaments scheduled on the local greens this season.

Despite the fact that the 1946 season will not open officially until the first week of May, several Salem tee artists have already taken advantage of the balmy weather of recent weeks to get in a few rounds of play. The course is reported to be in excellent shape due to the painstaking work of Greenskeeper Trevor Lewis.

Plans for tournaments and contests have been delayed until the new "pro" has arrived on the scene.

At Tuesday's meeting, board members also discussed plans for a membership drive to be started sometime within the next few weeks. The club's membership at present stands at 125.

Mocsary will supervise activities on the local course from May through November. Following conclusion of the season here, he expects to return to Florida in order that he may keep his game at its peak throughout the winter months.

Third Basemen Problem Is Major Worry Of Big Moguls

In Keltner Cleveland owns one of the best third basemen in the American league, but the recently discharged sailor was late in signing and hasn't trimmed down to his best playing weight. Currently Boudreau has been using Bob Lemon and Don Ross at the far corner.

Whitey Kurowski, hard hitting Cardinal third baseman, ended a long holdout siege last Saturday and hasn't seen an inning of action. He is expected to be on the bench when the season opens with Al (Red) Schoendienst, an outfielder last year, at third.

George Stinewell, best second baseman in the American league last year will be the regular Yankee third baseman this season but an injury to Second Sacker Joe Gordon last month may send Stinewell back at his old post next Tuesday.

Even Steve O'Neill and Charlie Grimm, the 1945 pennant winning managers, are not certain of their opening day third basemen. O'Neill has been experimenting with Jimmy Outlaw, last year's part-time third baseman, Billy Hitchcock and Pinky Higgins. It looks like he will start the season with the 37-year-old Higgins who was beginning to show the effects of age when he entered the service two years ago.

Grimm has been worried over the slowness of Veteran Stan Hack in rounding into form. The 35-year-old Californian has needed assistance in almost every game from youthful Johnny Ostrowski and his hitting has been practically nil this spring.

Injuries have been responsible for the unsettled third base condition of Brooklyn and the New York Giants. In Brooklyn, Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, back after four years in the Navy, was counted on to pick up where he left off at the far corner, but an injured hand has written him off for a least another month. Billy Herman and Pete Reiser were injured while attempting to fill in for Lavagetto and now Lew Riggs, 30-year man in the majors, is trying his hand there.

Manager Mel Ott finally has decided on Buddy Kerr after giving Nick Witke, Dick Bartell and Jaime Almondo a crack at third. Witke is sidelined by a split hand.

In Philadelphia George Kell, a late reporter, and Pete Suder, 1943 regular, are battling for the Athletics post while Jim Tabor, purchased from the Boston Red Sox, has the inside track in the Phillies camp.

Billy Southworth, of the Boston Braves, has three candidates, Sibbi Sisti, Prodan Fernandez, and Bob Detwiler. Joe Cronin of the Red Sox is equally undecided. With two would-be regulars, Jack Tobin and Ty Laforetz already disposed of.

Salem Dog Wins Second In Beagle Hound Event

Trustone Dandy, owned and handled by R. E. Lawrence of Salem, won second place in the 13-inch futurity dog class at the International Beagle Federation Futurity and Spring Derby stakes at Ellsworth Monday and Tuesday.

The two-year old dog was second to Grayline Venture, owned and handled by Charles Chasey of Point Pleasant, Ill. Sixty dogs competed in the class.

The 13-inch class featured the entire activity of the derby on Monday, because of the extremely large field entered in that event.

Leetonia Boosters Enjoy Canton Speakers; Gridders Honor Coach Charlie Mather

An enthusiastic group of 40 Leetonia Boosters and the football squad last night heard a representative group of Canton McKinley Boosters, including Coach "Bup" Reardon of McKinley, present football talks as the Boosters honored Coach Charlie Mather, Assistant Jerry Beltempo and Principal James L. McBride at a Boosters club meeting.

Reardon, coach of Canton's famed Bulldog football and basketball teams was accompanied to the Leetonia meeting in the High school building by Dave Williams, Canton magician and entertainer, Kaye Manne, president of the Bulldog Boosters club, Assistant Coach "Red" Riddersbaugh and Sports Editor Harry Yockey of the Canton Repository.

All gave brief talks, outlining the McKinley Boosters program, while Williams entertained with magic tricks, featuring Dick Reese, Leetonia Boosters president, as his "stooge."

Reese was appointed by the club, during the business session, to represent the organization as a member of the Leetonia High school athletic council during the coming year.

The move was instigated as the result of a letter from the council, requesting that a member of the club be appointed to represent the Boosters in schedule negotiations, etc., in council sessions.

The group also passed a resolution expressing "complete backing of the current park improvement project in Leetonia" and offered the services of any or all its members in carrying out the program.

Here's Latest In Training Camps

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, April 11.—The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers continue their northward trek today in an exhibition game here, their last clash before engaging in a three-game series at Ebbets field in Brooklyn. Tommy Henrich, regular Yankee rightfielder, has been granted permission to visit his home and will not be in the lineup today, but Charlie Keller, New York leftfielder, was expected back after a three-day vacation.

WICHITA, Kans.—Sam Zolcak, who blanked the Chicago Cubs in his last appearance against the National league champions, will be on the mound for the Browns today against the Cubs in the finale of their 20-game spring series. Claude Passeau is expected to start for the Cubs. Catcher Paul Gillespie was optioned to Nashville reducing the Cub roster to 38.

TULSA, Okla.—Terry Moore,

team captain of the St. Louis Cardinals, tried out for four innings yesterday at the Oklahoma city Indians against the ailing legs that have kept him out of action most of the spring. Moore, who hasn't missed an opening day game in nine years in organized baseball, said he would start in Thursday's opener only if he believed himself ready.

Golf Club Signs Pro

Andrew Mocsary, Former Norwalk Instructor, To Direct Activity At Salem Course Through The Summer Season

The selection of Andrew Mocsary, former Norwalk (Ohio) Country club golf instructor, as the new "pro" at the Salem Golf club this season, was revealed today following a meeting of the club's board of directors Tuesday night.

Mocsary, who is currently winding up the winter golfing season in St. Petersburg, Fla., is due to arrive in Salem April 20 with his wife and daughter and will take over his new duties shortly after that date.

Mocsary's contract states that he will have complete charge of the course, clubs and caddies and that he will supervise all contests and tournaments scheduled on the local greens this season. Despite the fact that the 1946 season will not open officially until the first week of May, several Salem tee artists have already taken advantage of the balmy weather of recent weeks to get in a few rounds of play. The course is reported to be in excellent shape due to the painstaking work of Greenskeeper Trevor Lewis.

Plans for tournaments and contests have been delayed until the new "pro" has arrived on the scene.

At Tuesday's meeting, board members also discussed plans for a membership drive to be started sometime within the next few weeks. The club's membership at present stands at 125.

Mocsary will supervise activities on the local course from May through November. Following conclusion of the season here, he expects to return to Florida in order that he may keep his game at its peak throughout the winter months.

ISOLATIONISM HIT BY TOLEDO EDITOR

CLEVELAND, April 11. — The American people already are losing the peace by drifting into isolationism. Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, told the Cleveland advertising club today.

Participation in international affairs "will have to be sold to the people just as they were sold on war production and on buying war bonds," Patterson said.

"We tried the other way. We tried to stay quietly within our borders and let the rest of the world go by. And we were inevitably dragged into World War I. We did not learn our lesson. We tried to sit in the chimney corner of security and were dragged into World War II."

"No thinking man, it seems to me, would again dare to rest upon the motionless oars of isolationism."

A kettle drum is the only instrument of its kind that can be tuned to the key of the selection being played.

ISOLATIONISM HIT BY TOLEDO EDITOR

CLEVELAND, April 11. — The American people already are losing the peace by drifting into isolationism, Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, told the Cleveland advertising club today.

Participation in international affairs "will have to be sold to the people just as they were sold on war production and on buying war bonds," Patterson said.

"We tried the other way. We tried to stay quietly within our borders and let the rest of the world go by. And we were inevitably dragged into World War I. We did not learn our lesson. We tried to sit in the chimney corner of security and were dragged into World War II."

"No thinking man, it seems to me, would again dare to rest upon the motionless oars of isolationism."

A kettle drum is the only instrument of its kind that can be tuned to the key of the selection being played.
